Pumpkin Spice, Football & Fun Memories

October is one of my very favorite months! The leaves begin to turn beautiful shades of golden yellow, burnt orange bright red. The temperatures consistently stay a little cooler and everything pumpkin spice is in the air! Not everyone agrees - some dislike pumpkin pies and pumpkin spice and prefer the warmer temperatures. Living in Kentucky, we do get to enjoy all four seasons and many say it's one of the most beautiful places to live.

Memories of children dressing up for Halloween, handing out candy, touring through Haunted Houses (I NEVER did these!) and bobbing for candy apples are sweet memories. Many of our residents have even made their children's and grandchildren's costumes over the years. I remember being so very excited during the school days leading up to trick or treating. Coming home from school and getting ready to go trick or treating was such a thrill for my brother and myself.

The memories that come with the changing seasons bring feelings of nostalgia. I love hearing your stories and memories. Keep them alive by sharing and making new ones here with us.

XOXO - Laurie
